Innovative Infrastructure Financing Through Value Capture in Indonesia Dec 17 2021 This report proposes a new method to increase infrastructure investment based on the concept of value capture in Indonesia. Indonesia needs significant additional infrastructure investment to sustain its economic growth. However, the COVID-19 pandemic has further limited the fiscal space of the government. The report studies how Indonesia's existing policies and regulations can be used to build a value capture framework that ensures the maximization of the social, economic, and environmental value of infrastructure investments. The framework focuses on strategies to deliver infrastructure projects that create greater value and, at the same time, generate funding for up-front investment.

Memadu fungsi tol laut & darat : menggugah keadilan distributif komutatif

Oct 03 2020 Buku berjudul Memadu Fungsi Tol Darat dan Tol Laut yang ditulis oleh Ansel Alaman ini merupakan hasil kajian yang komprehensif. Penulis mampu memberikan pemaparan terkait kedua tol yang masing-masing memiliki entitas karakteristik berbeda, namun dapat dipadukan dalam fungsi yang sama, menggunakan multi moda transportasi untuk menghantar muatan/barang dari produsen ke konsumen, dari sentra industri manufaktur ke pangguna di berbagai daerah di Indonesia. Buku ini didukung dengan penyajian data yang lengkap dari berbagai sumber kredibel dari instansi terkait seperti Kementerian PU-PR dan Kementerian Perhubungan. Meskipun begitu, uraian dalam buku ini dapat dicerna dengan mudah apalagi ditinjau dari gaya penulis yang dialogis, penulis berusaha mengajak berdialog pembaca di setiap subpoin pembahasa yang diawali dengan pertanyaan. Selain itu, tulisan ini juga menyajikan "politik kebijakan" pemerintah bidang infrastruktur khusus yang ditangani Kementerian PU-PR dan Kementerian Perhubungan untuk mewujudkan public goods demi keadilan distributif dan komutatif untuk mewujudkan nilai-nilai Pancasila.

The Haze Problem in Southeast Asia Apr 09 2021 Despite the efforts of Southeast Asian governments and of ASEAN, transboundary haze continues to be a major environmental problem in Southeast Asia. This book demonstrates that the issue is complex, and explains why efforts to solve the problem in purely political terms are ineffective, and likely to continue to be ineffective. The book shows how state-led, state-incentivised agribusiness development lies at the heart of the problem, leading to a large rise in palm oil production, with extensive clearing of forests, leading to deliberate or accidental fires and the resulting haze. Moreover, although the forest clearing is occurring in Indonesia, many of the companies involved are Malaysian and Singaporean; and, further, many of these companies have close relationships with the politicians and officials responsible for addressing the problem and who thereby have a conflict of interest. The author concludes by discussing the huge difficulties involved in overturning this system of 'patronage politics'.

International Recommendations for Colour

Vision Requirements for Transport Jan 18 2022

This technical report prepared by CIE Technical Committee 4-31 of Division 4 "Lighting and Signalling for Transport" details the official CIE Recommendations for requirements of colour vision that are necessary to ensure safe and reliable recognition of coloured signal lights and other colour coded visual information devices.

The aim of the report is to encourage international harmonisation in colour vision requirements in maritime, air, rail and road transport, and the use of valid methods for the assessment of colour vision. The recommendations take into account the complexity of the colour codes used, the observation conditions likely to be encountered and the importance of colour recognition to safety in the various transport modes. The report summarises the studies that document the kind of difficulties experienced by persons with defective colour vision and the studies that show defective colour vision is a risk factor. The report defines three colour vision standards, (1) normal colour vision, (2) defective colour vision A where those with a mild colour vision deficiency can demonstrate their ability to see and recognise coloured signal lights, and (3) defective colour vision B where those with defective colour vision can demonstrate their ability to recognise surface colour codes at a short distance, such as those used on colour coded computer screens. The report also recommends test procedures for the assessment of colour vision. Detailed information on the recommended colour vision tests is given in an appendix.

Disease Control Priorities, Third Edition (Volume 9)

Apr 28 2020 As the culminating volume in the DCP3 series, volume 9 will provide an overview of DCP3 findings and methods, a summary of messages and substantive lessons to be taken from DCP3, and a further discussion of cross-cutting and synthesizing topics across the first eight volumes. The introductory chapters (1-3) in this volume take as their starting point the elements of the Essential Packages presented in the overview chapters of each volume. First, the chapter on intersectoral policy priorities for health includes fiscal and intersectoral policies and assembles a subset of the population policies and applies strict criteria for a low-income setting in order to propose a "highest-priority" essential package. Second, the chapter on packages of care and delivery platforms for universal health coverage (UHC) includes health sector interventions, primarily clinical and public health services, and uses the same approach to propose a highest priority package of interventions and policies that meet similar criteria, provides cost estimates, and describes a pathway to UHC.

Devolution, Port Governance and Port Performance Aug 01 2020 The relationship between ports and governments has changed profoundly over the past quarter of a century. Many governments have sought to extract themselves from the business of port operations and, in many cases, the provision of port services has devolved to local governments, communities or private management and administration. As such devolution implies a change in governance model, this trend raises questions about consequent performance. This issue examines the changed port management environment, focusing particularly on government policies such as devolution, regulatory reform and newly imposed governance models, all of which have exerted a significant influence over the nature of that changed environment. The issue is structured so as to first explore the devolution and port reform approaches for 14 countries or regions, before examining how ports are governed and what the choice of governance might mean for their performance. Part I introduces the issue, and provides a framework for defining the basic concepts involved in devolution; it paints a picture of the current port environment, its likely future evolution and the expected impact this will have on the functioning of ports. Part II examines the port industry in 14 countries or administrations, and presents the thinking behind any devolution programs that have been implemented. Part III focuses on port governance and devolution generally, and examines governance from both strategic management and economics perspectives, including topics such as governance models, supranational governance and stakeholder conflict. Part IV examines the measurement of port performance and closes by providing conclusions and a future research agenda. This issue will be of interest to port managers, government officials and academics alike.

*Examines the relationship between ports and governments with a focus on devolution *Divided into sections that provide an overview, evaluate the port industry, discuss port governance, and suggest new measures of port performance *14 countries or regions are addressed

The Making of Modern Economics Jan 06 2021 Here is a bold history of economics - the dramatic story of how the great economic thinkers built today's rigorous social science. Noted financial writer and economist Mark Skousen has revised and updated this popular work to provide more material on Adam Smith and Karl Marx, and expanded coverage of Joseph Stiglitz, 'imperfect' markets, and behavioral economics. This comprehensive, yet accessible introduction to the major economic philosophers of the past 225 years begins with Adam Smith and continues through the present day. The text examines the contributions made by each individual to our understanding of the role of the economist, the science of economics, and economic theory. To make the work more engaging, boxes in each chapter highlight little-known - and often amusing - facts about the economists' personal lives that affected their work.
