The Ganja Kitchen Revolution Apr 01 2020 Written for all levels of kitchen skill, The Ganja Kitchen Revolution explores a whole host of international culinary influences and pairs every recipe with a cannabis strain whose flavor complements that of the dish -- creating a whole new type of cannabis cuisine that spans the globe! What's more, the strain chart included in the book will give readers tons of ideas for new strains to try should they ever get bored with the same old same old. The book includes eleven extraction methods that include oils, extracts, nut butters, and the infamous cannabutter, which allows readers to choose the method best suited to their needs, flavour preferences and schedule. Catalano's methodology is designed to get as much THC out of the marijuana and into the food as possible. It has never been easier to medicate a meal! Using Ganja Kitchen's revolutionary new dosing chart, readers can effortlessly find the right measurements for them. The chart gives readers agency without compromising safety. Most marijuana cookbooks leave readers to guess at their doses should they choose to venture outside the given measurement, but Ganja gives readers the tools to experiment safely rather than allowing them to risk overdoing it. This book is designed to give cannabis cooks as many options as possible while also considering their safety, which is why the author goes over how to medicate responsibly with edibles and cannabis-infused drinks and offers healthy options for patients as well as recreational users. With over 70 recipes, there are meals for every time of day and event (except perhaps a baby shower), as well as recipes for those with dietary restrictions. Regardless of readers' nutritional needs, Catalano ensures that the joy of eating is never compromised, and uses marijuana as a legitimate flavour enhancer rather than an afterthought meant to get you high. The Ganja Kitchen Revolution is a cookbook that appreciates the intricacy and joy of cooking as well as the complexity and variety of cannabis and its applications. The recipes are made for stoners looking to switch up their next high, for enthusiastic cooks, medical users and so many more. It is a cookbook that encourages creativity and allows readers to create their own unique experiences with the tools provided. With Ganja Kitchen's clear instructions alongside comprehensive step-by-step photos for every recipe, anyone can create fantastic medicated dishes. This book will change the way we all cook with cannabis.

Guns, Girls, Gambling, Ganja May 27 2022 Gambling, prostitution, drugs, arms trading, oil smuggling, and trafficking in people -- these six illegal businesses are large and getting larger. They distort the economy and victimize people. They are increasingly linked together through networks of protection and organized crime. They help to fund Thailand's corrosive 'money politics' and to sustain corruption in the police. In this sequel to Corruption and Democracy in Thailand, the authors argue that control of the illegal economy, especially through reform of the police, is vital for the development of a modern economy and functioning democracy.

The Ganja Godfather Jun 27 2022 Genovese mob-scion Silvio Eboli lived within the shadows of history, and now for the first time, the untold story of a mafia legend is revealed. The Ganja Godfather is the story about an ongoing organized criminal operation, in real time with firsthand accounts and experiences by award-winning author and investigative journalist, Toby Rogers. Pleading the Blood Aug 06 2020 The definitive look at one of the most important Black art films and original filmmakers of the 1970s. Bill Gunn's Ganja & Hess (1973) has across the decades attained a sizable cult following among African American cinema devotees, art house aficionados, and horror fans, thanks to its formal complexity and rich allegory. Pleading the Blood is the first full-length study of this cult classic. Ganja & Hess was withdrawn almost immediately after its New York premiere by its distributor because Gunn's poetic re-fashioning of the vampire genre allegedly failed to satisfy the firm's desire for a by-the-numbers "blaxploitation" horror flick for quick sell-off in the urban market. Its current status as one of the classic works of African American cinema has recently been confirmed by the Blu-ray release of its restored version, by its continued success in screenings at repertory houses, museums, and universities, and by an official remake, Da Sweet Blood of Jesus (2014), directed by Spike Lee, one of the original picture's longtime champions. Pleading the Blood draws on Gunn's archived papers, screenplay drafts, and storyboards, as well as interviews with the living major creative participants to offer a comprehensive, absorbing account of the influential movie and its highly original filmmaker.

Ganja Man Dec 10 2020 A true story of a Jamaican drug trafficker and ex-convict in the early 1970's, based on the author's two years of research in a coastal area of the island as a young anthropologist. The book is devoted to an odyssey with "Storm," an armed "Rastaman" and "obeahman" (sorcerer), from his time as a fugitive and destitute ganja planter in the Crown land mountains to his ultimate success in the newly established, burgeoning export trade in marijuana to the U.S. and Canada. Chapters chronicle police raids, reprisals against thieves and informers, disputes with ganja "partners," family break-ups, and rare, firsthand accounts of the "white and black arts" of "obeah." The book also deals with the impact of widespread political corruption on Jamaica's "sufferers" and the evolution of the island's political gangs, drug lords and "garrison communities."

The Ganja Coast: George Sansi 2 May 15 2021 Where there's drugs, there's violence ... A sleepy community on the Indian coast, Goa is a paradise for the international hippie brigade, drawn by the golden beaches and endless supply of cheap dope. Goa is used to a certain manageable level of brutality, used to mellowing its impact in a haze of pot smoke. Lately, though, the ugliness has gotten worse. Professionals have moved in on the drug trade, and even the sweetest smoke can't cover the stink of corruption that's pouring from the highest levels of local government. George Sansi, the half-Indian/half-English cop from Bombay (who debuted in Season of the Monsoon), thinks he's seen about the worst the world can offer. But when he gets a call to help clean up Goa, he finds himself unprepared for the grimly dark side of paradise.
